

“Please”
By: Adam O’Brien

I look myself in the mirror
I can't believe what I have done
I wipe my tears to see clearer
I can't believe what I've become
I reminisce about the journey
And all the friends I've lost, lost along the way
And all the pain, the tears, the sadness
Please Lord take this pain away
Please, oh Lord please hear my prayers
Please help us people to see what we're doing is not fair
God help me please, oh Lord, please hear my prayers
Please help us people to see what we're doing is not fair
To all of you who have loved me
To all I've lost along the way
I pray the Lord I'll always be with you
And give you peace everyday
Help me break these chains of bondage
Help me forget about my past
Cause I am not the man I once was
And I refuse to go back
Please, oh Lord please hear my prayers
Please help us people to see what we're doing is not fair
God help me please, oh Lord, please hear my prayers
Please help us people to see what we're doing is not fair
Cause I never meant to hurt you, but I will take the blame, never meant to give you all this pain
Sitting here with my heart on my sleeve, beginning my family please don't leave
No I never meant to hurt you, but I will take the blame, never meant to give you all this pain
Sitting here with my heart on my sleeve, beginning my family please don't leave
Please, oh Lord please hear my prayers
Please help us people to see what we're doing is not fair
God help me please, oh Lord, please hear my prayers
Please help us people to see what we're doing is not fair
